

Math Made Easy: Boosting Your Child's Numeracy Skills and Confidence

It is often thought that we have or don't have a Math brain. As parents we wonder why our child finds Math a challenge, when we don't. In this session we will explore what lies beneath the ability to do Math and the diagnosis of dyscalculia and find out how, using the brain's ability to change, we can reshape the brain's numerical pathways, establishing a solid foundation in math.
